THE LEMONS — having to close a beloved children’s museum for nine months due to the “Great Flood” of January 2015, which caused extensive damage to all three floors. We remained closed for almost three months of fiscal year 15/16— but we were tirelessly working to reopen.

I am extremely grateful to our staff, our members, our Board of Directors and donors, volunteers, business and media partners, school and community partners, and government officials across the region—especially the City of Naperville—for all of their incredible support in recovering from the flood and helping DuPage Children’s Museum (DCM) come back better and stronger than ever before.

THE LEMONADE — bringing back, to our incredibly patient families, a completely re-imagined Museum. Since re-opening on Saturday, September 19, 2015, we have greeted over 240,000 visitors from around the world. We have set record attendance numbers and have almost doubled the number of DCM members served. Our Family Access Membership (FAM) program, which provides discounted memberships to those who qualify, has tripled in the number of families served.

Our new strategic plan: Vision 2020, a road map that will lead the Museum solidly into the next decade, is in full execution. We launched a new contemporary website, received unprecedented media coverage, and earned numerous awards and mentions. We ended the year very strong, meeting and, in many cases, exceeding aggressive revenue goals. That success would not be possible without the support and confidence in our mission held by so many in our community.

On the eve of our 30 Year Anniversary in 2017, this treasured early learning institution is poised to continue another decade of inspiring future innovators in our unique learning environment, and supporting the important adults in their lives with professional development opportunities through our Learning Institute. We are well on our way to being known as a nationally recognized leader in early childhood learning. I hope you enjoy the following incredible story about how we have turned lemons into lemonade.

President & CEO
PETER EXLEY, FAIA RIBA loves stories of time travel, with all their fantastic visions of moving through the fourth dimension. As the design architects 16 years ago, Architecture Is Fun transformed a discarded retail lumber warehouse into a vibrant children’s museum, whose architecture, exhibits, and big red door embodied an important philosophical message – everything and everyone has value and creative potential.

FAST FORWARD TO JANUARY 2015 AND THE MUSEUM’S DEVASTATING FLOOD
By March, Architecture Is Fun was on board to restore and re-imagine the interior architecture and damaged galleries. Time is decidedly relative — and the countdown clock had already begun. Tick Tock.

In reality, designing at high speed is serious stuff, clearly not a fairy tale or science fiction adventure. There were many challenges, lots of problem-solving, a great deal of risk acceptance, and only 24 hours in a day. Staying true to “the original” was essential. Managing a fluid process was mandatory. Listening was critical. Bringing everyone to the design table meant that individual notions became group vision, which resulted in innovative and expedited solutions.

Everyone was on high alert – and the critical nature of our roles as one design team allowed us an openness to share ideas, notions, and concerns. These shared experiences and team meetings gave everyone a giant red door of a permission slip to act, to be creative, and to define exactly what they, as the advocate for facilities or education or exhibits or visitor facilitation or fiscal responsibility, needed and wanted for the Museum on opening day. Each week, our serious play times allowed us to become a cohesive collaborative unit, traveling together towards opening day.

That was the strategy. Work together. Think it out together. Be creative, artful, and design to what you know best. Tick Tock. Schedule was a key challenge, which set the pace for the project. We time traveled, using unconventional and innovative thinking, designing and leading to beat the clock! DuPage Children’s Museum reopened September 19th, a mere six months from when Peter and I became part of the project.

LEMONADE: A RE-IMAGINED MUSEUM
During the temporary closure, DCM listened to its audiences and incorporated many comments and suggestions into the re-imagined Museum experience.

A completely redesigned lobby with bright colors and home to The Explorer Store, a place to purchase unique toys that foster learning.

Creativity Connections, Make It Move, and Build It, favorite DCM Neighborhoods, added fun new features, like Shadow Sand, which incorporates technology for children to play with “Virtual Sand” using their bodies to create shapes and movement making art playful and thought provoking.

Our relocated Good Show! Gallery features children’s works of art in addition to those from local and national artists.

The Studio, where children’s curiosity and creativity intersect, is now twice the original size and open more hours.

A former office space was transformed into The Wonder Room — a space about color, shadow, and integration of light.

The Big Lawn is a gross motor play area and pays homage to the bridge located in downtown Naperville. It offers parents a resting place and children the opportunity to exert their extra energy.

School Labs were rebuilt and Program Rooms were re-imagined featuring beautiful murals painted by renowned artists.

Math Playground was developed as a one-year temporary exhibit to complement DCM’s existing Math Connections and Math Young Explorers neighborhoods, providing more full-body experiences that related to geometry, spatial relationships, numeracy, and patterns.

The Family Room continues to provide learning resources and play experiences for children and adults in a colorful and comfortable environment.

AWESOME AIR
DECEMBER 2015
VISITORS WERE BLOWN AWAY!
Children can experience the power of air to begin to form an understanding of concepts such as how air is generated, how air moves, how air can move objects, and more. AWESOME AIR is a part of the larger AWESOME ENERGY Neighborhood. Each exhibit area around AWESOME creates an immersive, interactive experience in three integrated sections: Air, Water, and Electricity. As children explore in a hands-on environment, discovering the scientific forces that power our world, they build creativity, critical thinking, and problem-solving skills that will launch them into becoming tomorrow’s innovative thinkers.

CHILDREN OF HANGZHOU:

COMMUNITY OUTREACH

PLAY TO LEARN

Play to Learn sessions are provided free of charge through grant funding to communities serving at-risk families. Parents learn how guided play with their child has a significant impact in their educational journey. Trained staff facilitate this program in preschools and libraries with a focus on benefiting underserved audiences (i.e. Head Start, Pre-K at Risk). The program helps bridge the gap between DCM as a learning environment and home.

FAMILY ACCESS MEMBERSHIPS

SIGNIFICANT INCREASE IN PARTICIPATION

DuPage Children’s Museum strives to make the Museum’s unique learning-through-play experience accessible to every child, regardless of economic barriers. The Family Access Membership Program (FAM) works to make deeply discounted membership available to qualifying families. This program is generously supported through grants and sponsorships.

Since the Museum reopened in September 2015, the number of families served through Family Access Memberships tripled to serving over 1100 families (9/19/15 through 6/30/16).

1140 children and 885 adults participated in 37 Play to Learn programs at community sites and libraries in Addison, Bensenville, Bloomingdale, Darien, Indian Prairie, Itasca, Naperville, Aurora, Lisle, and Lombard.

FREE COMMUNITY NIGHT

THURSDAY, APRIL 28

On Thursday, April 28, a FREE Community Night was sponsored by the San Antonio Convention and Visitors Bureau and Southwest Vacations. This special evening was just one way DCM gives back to the community. In addition, the Community Night at DCM was the official location for the kick-off of the Naperville Collaborative Youth Team’s (CYT) Healthy Mind, Healthy Body, Healthy Land (HMB) initiative. More than 700 visitors were able to explore the Museum for FREE.

SUPPORTERS: Joseph & Bessie Feinberg Foundation, Dr. Andrew T. and Alice O. Kogan, and Alben F. and Clara G. Bates Foundation

570 teachers participated in Professional Development impacting 11,400 students.

EARLY LEARNING

PUBLIC PROGRAMS

Families experienced a new breadth of programming this year at DCM. To complement the Children of Hangzhou traveling exhibit, the Museum hosted traditional Chinese dancers and musicians, as well as Creativity Classes and Family Fun Friday Nights focused on Chinese art and cultural celebrations. This year, we were also excited to introduce the return of popular partner programming including the School of Rock Instrument Petting Zoo and Anderson’s Pest Solutions Insect Zoo as well as annual events such as Fall Festival, Fairy Tale Fest, and Train Week. Through the Museum’s Tiny Great Performances™ series, visitors were able to experience live performances in a family-friendly environment.

SCHOOL PROGRAMS & FIELD TRIPS

In addition to in-school and in-museum Family Math and Science Nights, DCM’s Lab R.A.T.S. (Radical Approach To the Subject) go into schools to present Learning Labs.

614 Learning Lab sessions reached 14,800 students, 2313 parents, and 1452 educators from 166 locations – 42 school districts in 7 counties.

1349 students, 1154 parents, and 101 educators participated in 18 Family Math and/or Science Nights.

11,047 students, 3583 parents, and 1790 educators attended Field Trips.

WHEN THE MUSEUM NEEDS A VOLUNTEER – CALL MARTHA! Martha Aderholdt, a retired physical therapist with the Wheaton-Warrenville School District, has been volunteering weekly since November 2012. Since then, she has contributed 516 total hours. This year alone she contributed 137 hours! Not only does Martha volunteer as a Lead Play Assistant, where she interacts with visitors on the Museum floor, but she also helps staff with special projects, helps with off-site events and special events such as Bubble Bash, and also mentors new volunteers. Martha likes to help out wherever she is needed. When she is not volunteering at the Museum, she can be seen playing at the Museum with her grandson. She brings him here because this is his favorite place to play.

My favorite part of volunteering at DCM is to watch the little moment when a child makes a connection for the first time.”

– MARTHA ADERHOLDT, DCM Volunteer

Whether interacting with visitors or working behind the scenes, volunteers at DCM make a lasting impact on the lives of children. DCM volunteer opportunities are available for teens, adults, groups, and corporations.

C.H. Robinson is a third party logistics provider in transportation with an office in Lisle. The employees had so much fun working on projects such as cleaning exhibits, cutting paper for school programs, and decorating the Mayor A. George Pradel Volunteer Center. Volunteering behind the scenes not only allowed them a chance to do social good for the Museum but also allowed them to bond as a company. C.H. Robinson employees now volunteer on a regular basis since November 2015. A total of 29 employees contributed 208 volunteer hours.
